

The Lord's Prayer

Our Father who art in heaven,
hallowed be thy name.
Thy kingdom come, thy will be done,
on earth, as it is in heaven.
Give us this day our daily bread,
and forgive us our debts,
as we forgive our debtors.
And lead us not into temptation,
but deliver us from evil.
For thine is the kingdom,
the power, and the glory, forever. Amen

Responsive Psalm 25

In you, LORD my God,
I put my trust.

I trust in you;
do not let me be put to shame,
nor let my enemies triumph over me.
No one who hopes in you
will ever be put to shame,
but shame will come on those
who are treacherous without cause.

Show me your ways, Lord,
teach me your paths.
Guide me in your truth and teach me,
for you are God my Savior,
and my hope is in you all day long.
Remember, LORD, your great mercy and love,
for they are from of old.

Do not remember the sins of my youth
and my rebellious ways;
according to your love remember me,
for you, Lord, are good.

Turn to me and be gracious to me,
for I am lonely and afflicted.
Relieve the troubles of my heart
and free me from my anguish.
Look on my affliction and my distress
and take away all my sins.
See how numerous are my enemies
and how fiercely they hate me!

Guard my life and rescue me;
do not let me be put to shame,
for I take refuge in you.
May integrity and uprightness protect me,
because my hope, LORD, is in you.

Scripture Readings

Mark 4:35-41

On that day, when evening had come, he said to them, 'Let us go across to the other side.' And leaving the crowd behind, they took him with them in the boat, just as he was. Other boats were with him. A great gale arose, and the waves beat into the boat, so that the boat was already being swamped. But he was in the stern, asleep on the cushion; and they woke him up and said to him, 'Teacher, do you not care that we are perishing?' He woke up and rebuked the wind, and said to the sea, 'Peace! Be still!' Then the wind ceased, and there was a dead calm. He said to them, 'Why are you afraid? Have you still no faith?' And they were filled with great awe and said to one another, 'Who then is this, that even the wind and the sea obey him?'

2 Corinthians 6:1-10

As we work together with him, we urge you also not to accept the grace of God in vain. For he says, 'At an acceptable time I have listened to you, and on a day of salvation I have helped you.' See, now is the acceptable time; see, now is the day of salvation! We are putting no obstacle in anyone's way, so that no fault may be found with our ministry, but as servants of God we have commended ourselves in every way: through great endurance, in afflictions, hardships, calamities, beatings, imprisonments, riots, labours, sleepless nights, hunger; by purity, knowledge, patience, kindness, holiness of spirit, genuine love, truthful speech, and the power of God; with the weapons of righteousness for the right hand and for the left; in honour and dishonour, in ill repute and good repute. We are treated as impostors, and yet are true; as unknown, and yet are well known; as dying, and see—we are alive; as punished, and yet not killed; as sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing everything.

Notes from the Director of Music

The organ music today is by three composers about whom we know very little. Henry Heron (d.1795) and William Goodwin (d. 1784) were organists in churches in London in the 18th century. They both published sets of organ pieces which remain popular to this day. Jaques Louis Battman (1818-1886) was a French organist, composer and arranger. His piece “Recessional” which is today’s Postlude, is reminiscent of the outdoor band concerts one used to hear frequently in many communities. These simple marches were light, easy pieces that a community band could easily play in a bandstand or park lawn. I remember one summer I played my trombone with the Chippewa Citizens’ Band in a park by the Niagara River. Toward the end of the march, with no shelter, a huge gust of wind suddenly sprang up, blowing down all of the music stands like falling dominoes. The conductor carried on with only a second horn reading from a well-secured music stand, while a trumpet and snare drum bravely improvised to try and finish the piece. I think I managed to play the last note. Such was the fun of outdoor concerts. I recall that this band had a very odd collection of instruments which included a valved trombone and both a cornet and trumpet.

The trumpet and cornet are very similar instruments, but the cornet has a more mellow sound. The cornet stop on the organ however, is quite different from the trumpet stop. The Prelude is a type of piece which comes from a time when the “cornett” was remembered as a popular combination with the early organ. The “cornett” was a wooden pipe with finger holes drilled in it and used a mouthpiece similar to a trumpet. The “cornet” organ stop attempted to duplicate this sound with the use of particular combinations of pipes. The trumpet stop, as used in today’s Offertory, is one of a family of pipes with a vibrating reed. Just to confuse the issue, the stop used today as the trumpet stop was actually an oboe stop, once used in the organ at Queen Street United Church. The sound is similar, and in its position high up on top of the organ chamber, it sounds like a happy little trumpet. A piece for organ, trumpet or trumpet stop and voice is presented as our Anthem and was written by the famous English composer Henry Purcell.

Prayers

God, you are the God of life.
Transform us in the depths of our hearts
into people, through whom your peace
is carried out into the world.

Send your Spirit into the hearts of those who are captured in the net of violence
be it as perpetrators or as victims
and let us never give up the search for the chance to talk to them.

(Croatia)

The God of Peace will be with you
and grant you his peace at all times,
peace beyond our understanding,
that purifies the heart, mind and body,
until his Kingdom comes.
Having shared the Feast of God’s love,
go into the world to share his love in your life,
in the name of Christ.

Mission Moments...

Bringing worship to the people

Presbyterians Sharing supports Hanmaum Presbyterian Church in Langley, BC which serves a growing Korean community. Through worship, Bible studies, family ministry and outreach, Hanmaum is fulfilling its mission to glorify God and to let people know Jesus. The congregation's seniors' ministry reaches out to local Korean seniors who are unable to attend church. Every Wednesday, members bring worship to residents living at Amenida care home in Surrey. The ministry serves the spiritual and emotional needs of the residents as they connect with the church, share in the good news of the gospel and enjoy worship and special musical performances. The Rev. Philip Kim shares, "Our mission is service, a call to help people in need and to permeate all life with the compassion of God."

Relief for survivors of Cyclone Pam

From March 13 to 14, Cyclone Pam, one of the strongest cyclones to hit the Pacific Islands, devastated the island nation of Vanuatu. As a result, many families are living in temporary, unstable shelters and unable to access clean drinking water or necessary health facilities. In response, Presbyterian World Service & Development is working with local partners to help rebuild the lives of those who have suffered.

PWS&D is helping provide emergency shelter kits, hygiene kits, household water purification systems and food aid to 500 households. This life saving assistance is providing relief and meeting the needs of the people of Vanuatu during this difficult time. PWS&D provides support after natural disasters
