Rise and Mend

The season of Lent is forty days long which is good, because we have a lot of praying and mending to do ... broken relationships, broken systems, broken promises, it is enough to break your heart right in two. But God calls us to take courage to bind up broken hearts, including our own.

The season of Lent is forty days long, which is good. We have forty days ... to confess, to mend, to create a new future together, forty days to fast from the business and keep Sabbath, forty days to build up our strength and help put the world back together again, one stitch at a time

So we might rise again with Jesus for the fifty days of Easter, stronger than before, stitched back together and ready to welcome that new and dawning day
