Introit for Lent

Call to Worship

On this fifth Sunday of Lent, we discover a troubled Jesus in prayer as he contemplates his death on the cross.

We are grateful for the prayers of Jesus and for the times in the gospels when Jesus prayed.

In the Garden of Gethsemane Jesus threw himself on the ground and prayed, "Remove this cup from me; yet, not what I want, but what you want."

And so we pray, as Jesus taught us, "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven."

The Lord's Prayer

Our Father, who art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.

Thy kingdom come,

Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread.

And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.

And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil:

For thine is the kingdom, the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.

SCRIPTURE LESSONS

Responsive Psalm 51:1-12

Have mercy on me, O God,

according to your steadfast love;

according to your abundant mercy

blot out my transgressions.

Wash me thoroughly from my iniquity,

and cleanse me from my sin.

For I know my transgressions,

and my sin is ever before me.

Against you, you alone, have I sinned,

and done what is evil in your sight,

so that you are justified in your sentence

and blameless when you pass judgement.

Indeed, I was born guilty,

a sinner when my mother conceived me.

You desire truth in the inward being;

therefore teach me wisdom in my secret heart.

Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean;

wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.

Let me hear joy and gladness;
let the bones that you have crushed rejoice.

Hide your face from my sins,
and blot out all my iniquities.

Create in me a clean heart, O God,
and put a new and right spirit within me.

Do not cast me away from your presence,
and do not take your holy spirit from me.

Restore to me the joy of your salvation,
and sustain in me a willing spirit.

Jeremiah 31:31-34

The days are surely coming, says the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and the house of Judah. It will not be like the covenant that I made with their ancestors when I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt—a covenant that they broke, though I was their husband, says the Lord. But this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the Lord: I will put my law within them, and I will write it on their hearts; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people. No longer shall they teach one another, or say to each other, 'Know the Lord', for they shall all know me, from the least of them to the greatest, says the Lord; for I will forgive their iniquity, and remember their sin no more.

Introit for Lent

Mine eyes are ever toward the Lord;
For He shall pluck my feet out of the net.
Turn Thee unto me and have mercy upon me;
For I am desolate and afflicted.

Unto Thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul:
O my God, I trust in Thee; let me not be ashamed

Anthem – If Ye Love Me

If ye love me, keep my commandments
And I will pray the Father
And he shall give you another comforter.
That he may abide with you forever:
Even the Spirit of truth.

Music: Thomas Tallis (1520-1585)*

NOTES FROM THE DIRECTOR OF MUSIC

This is Ireland's special day, and whether of Irish descent or not, most Canadians like to celebrate in some fashion. Ireland does not stand out as a place of great composers. Charles Stanford, whose anthem we heard a few weeks ago, was born in Ireland but made his career in England and is regarded as an English composer. But there is one man who can be said to have been a great Irish composer. John Field was born in Dublin in 1782 to musical parents: his father was a violinist and his grandfather, who taught him piano, was an organist in the Church of Ireland. His family moved to London when he was eleven and he had the opportunity to study and work with Muzio Clementi who was a publisher, composer and maker of pianos. He accompanied Clementi to Paris, Vienna and St. Petersburg, helping him sell pianos but also doing important concertizing. The piano was still in the early development stages, but he and Clementi helped to popularize it as an important musical instrument. Field is regarded as a composer in the early Romantic period, and is most noted for establishing the “Nocturne” as a character piece for piano. Decades later, the Nocturne was made more popular by Chopin. Field’s music influenced many other composers in the later Romantic period including Mendelssohn.

Ralph Vaughan Williams (1872-1958) was an English composer who liked to collect folk songs from the English countryside and build musical works on them. One tune, said to come from Ireland, was used for a hymn tune called “Kingsfold” and it is used for our last Hymn today. In Ireland, the tune, in a more rhythmical form, is known as “The Star of the County Down”. Another great English composer was Thomas Tallis who composed today’s Anthem almost 500 years ago.

Major-General Sir Hector Macdonald was a bit of a folk hero in Scotland. His career and rather tragic end was celebrated with a piece of music by Scottish fiddler James Scott Skinner in 1903. We are happy to have piper Eric McCracken help us out with our music today.

Bible Study

We are aiming to start a Bible Study in Mid-April that will be built around a book by Adam Hamilton called "Words of Life: Jesus and the Promise of the Ten Commandments Today" Nearly everyone has heard of the Ten Commandments, the list of "thou shalt not" found in the Bible. Jesus saw these commandments not as onerous burdens, but as guideposts to help us experience a good and beautiful life. In this book of Scripture and inspiration, bestselling author Adam Hamilton brings modern eyes to the most important set of ethics in history. He considers the commandments in their historical context, considering the meaning of each commandment in Hebrew, unpacking how Jesus reinterpreted them, and showing how every thou-shalt-not was intended to point to a life-giving "thou shalt".

There will be two opportunities to participate, both here at the church in St. Andrew's Hall, Tuesday mornings at 10:30 or Tuesday evening at 7:00. Folks will be welcome to join whichever group fits your schedule best. We do need to plan for books so please contact the office or Rev. Barry by Easter Sunday so we can get them ordered. If you would prefer an e-reader version, please let us know and we can direct you how to get that version.

IN THE COMMUNITY

Partners in Mission

Partners in Mission again sends their gratitude to the congregation of St. Andrew's for our consistent donations and support. Here are some interesting stats of their work from 2023

Community Food Fund

CFF is an initiative created by Fat Chance Farmstead (Harrowsmith) and Doublejay Farm (Howe Island) that provides weekly boxes of produce and ground beef to food insecure folks in the Kingston area. Last year, by co-operating with existing community service agencies, CFF was able to connect with 10 families facing barriers to food access. This year, Grains and Good Bakery (Sydenham) is joining the team, to add bread to the weekly box, and the goal is to increase the number of recipient families to 15 or more. If you would like to contribute to this initiative, contact Doublejay Farms at doublejayfarms@gmail.com
